Later in this document, it describes in detail the individual contact modes. To go directly to the description of the individual contact mode click on his name below.

Contact modes provided by the website <http://pellinonautica.net>

This statement will also explain your options and rights regarding the data provided, without which pellinonautica.net may be unable, in part or entirely, to offer you its services.

This statement also draws on Recommendation no. 2/2001 which the European Authorities for the protection of personal data, in the Working Group established by Article 29 of Directive no. 95/46/CE, adopted on 17 May 2001 to determine some minimum requirements regarding the collection of personal data online, and, in particular, the methods, timeframes and nature of the information that data controllers must provide to users when they connect to websites, regardless of their reasons for connecting.

Statement regarding the processing of personal data as per article 13 of the EU Regulation 2016/679 and subsequent amendments

We wish to inform you that the EU Regulation 2016/679 (General Data Protection Regulation) provides for and ensures the right to the protection of personal data that are subject to processing by third parties by virtue of the principle that everyone has the right to the protection of their personal data and to have that data processed in compliance with fundamental rights and freedoms, with respect for the dignity of the interested party, in particular with regards to confidentiality and personal identity.

For the purposes of this information and the European Regulation we mean:

1. "form", indicates the interface of a site web or an application that allows the client user to enter and send to the web server one or more data freely entered by the same;
2. "data processing" means any operation or set of operations performed with or without the aid of automated processes and applied to personal data or sets of personal data, such as the collection, registration, organization, structuring, preservation, adaptation or modification, extraction, consultation, use, communication by transmission, diffusion or any other form of making available, comparison or interconnection, limitation, cancellation or destruction;
3. "personal data" means "personal data": any information concerning an identified or identifiable natural person ("concerned"); an identifiable natural person can be identified, either directly or indirectly, with particular reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online ID or one or more characteristic elements of his physical identity, physiological, genetic, psychological, economic, cultural or social;
4. «archive»: any structured set of personal data accessible according to certain criteria, regardless of whether the set is centralized, decentralized or broken down in a functional or geographical manner;
5. «data controller»: the natural or legal person, public authority, service or other body which, individually or together with others, determines the purposes and means of processing personal data; where the purposes and means of such processing are determined by Union or Member State law, the controller or specific criteria applicable to his designation may be established by Union or Member State law;
6. 'controller': the natural or legal person, public authority, service or other body that processes personal data on behalf of the controller;
7. 'recipient' means a natural or legal person, public authority, service or another body that receives personal data, whether it is a third party or not. However, public authorities that may receive disclosure of personal data in the context of a specific investigation in accordance with Union or Member State law are not considered to be recipients; the processing of such data by these public authorities complies with the applicable data protection rules according to the purposes of the processing;
8. 'third party' means a natural or legal person, public authority, service or other body other than the person concerned, the controller, the controller and the persons authorized to process personal data under the direct authority of the owner or manager;
9. «violation of personal data»: the security breach that involves accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, modification, unauthorized disclosure or access to personal data transmitted, stored or otherwise processed;
10. 'genetic data' means personal data relating to the hereditary or acquired genetic characteristics of a natural person providing unambiguous information on the physiology or health of that natural person, and which result in particular from the analysis of a biological sample of the natural person in question;
11. 'biometric data' means personal data obtained from specific technical processing relating to the physical, physiological or behavioral characteristics of a natural person which permit or confirm their unambiguous identification, such as facial image or dactyloscopic data;
12. 'health data' means personal data relating to the physical or mental health of a natural person, including the provision of health care services, which reveal information relating to his or her state of health;

In compliance with the aforementioned regulations and principles, the processing that we will perform on the data you provide us will be characterized by principles of lawfulness, fairness and transparency, and will be carried out with due regard for the principle of need in data processing: our systems and computer programmes will be set up so that the use of personal and identifying data is reduced to a minimum, so as to prevent processing when the pursued goals, in each individual case, can be achieved using anonymous data and appropriate methods that enable you to be identified only when necessary, respectively.
